Twenty-Sixth Annual Convention

OF THE WOMEN'S GENERAL MISSIONARY SOCIETY OF THE UNITED PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH OF NORTH AMERICA, HELD IN BUFFALO, N. Y., MAY 11-14, 1909.

Minutes.

TUESDAY EVENING, MAY 11.

A large gathering of delegates and visitors filled the First Church, Buffalo Tuesday evening, May 11, at the opening of the twenthy-sixth Annual Convention of the Women's General Missionary Society.

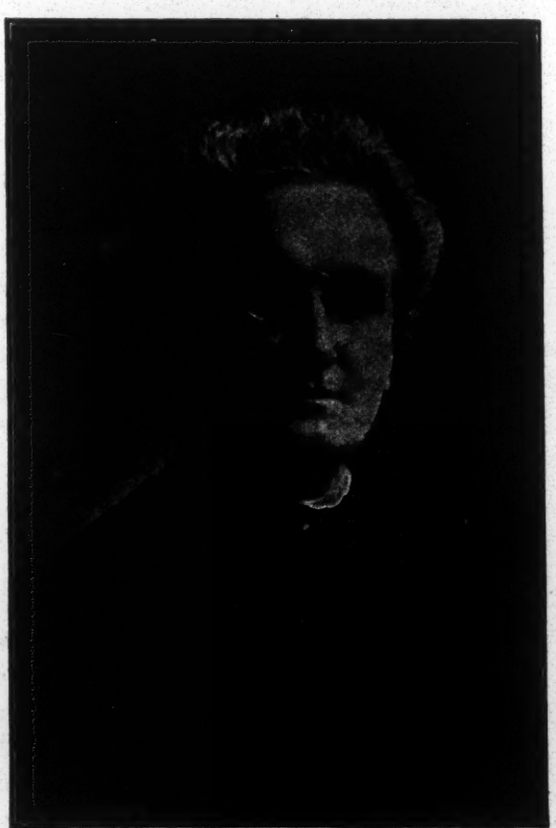
Mrs. J. S. Dague, the First Vice-President, presiding. Mrs. Dague chose the twelfth chapter of Romans for the Scripture lesson, Miss Mary J. Campbell, Missionary of India, followed with prayer. Mrs. J. R. Logue, wife of the pastor of the church, extended a most hearty greeting to all, and Mrs. Dague, in a few words of response, expressed our appreciation of the kind hospitality.

After a beautiful solo rendered by Miss Jennie Riter, Mrs. Dague presented the president, Mrs. J. L. Hervey, of New York City, who gave the address of the evening,

"Consecrated Womanhood."

Extracts from the Opening Address by the President, Mrs. J. L. Hervey.

On the last birthday of Washington, the first president of these U. S., there sailed into the harbor at Hampton Roads,



MRS. J. L. HERVEY,
President of the Convention.

America's battleship fleet, having completed its circuit of the globe.

It was a signal triumph for our navy. The heart of the beholder must have stirred with patriotic pride, as these sixteen noble vessels with banners flying, bands playing and cannons thundering their salutes, steamed by the Yacht Mayflower, upon which stood the reviewing party, composed of the President, cabinet and friends. During their absence of fourteen months, the fleet had sailed 45,000 miles and had carried the stars and stripes into the principal parts of the world.

In that way the resources of our republic were impressed upon the different nations.

Whilst an armament of mighty power, backed by one of the greatest governments that ever existed, its mission was peaceful and to cement more strongly cordial relations with other peoples.

Without any signs of war, without any display of the martial spirit, we, the representatives of the women's work of the United Presbyterian Church of North America, have assembled here tonight, called from all sections of the United States, from Egypt and India, to consider those matters which pertain to the kingdom of the Prince of Peace. We would record the achievements of womanhood, of the victories won over ignorance and superstition; not to laud ourselves, not to magnify our own endeavors, but to give all glory unto "Him before whom every knee should bow and every tongue confess."

We should be led to think of that power, placed in our hands as a part of the great army of the Lord.

The women of the twentieth century enjoy a rich and precious heritage. Through the enlightening and uplifting of christianity, their position, power and influence have been greatly elevated

For the purpose of contrast, let us pause for a moment, to outline somewhat of woman's position under the reign of Paganism.

That system brought no light into the lives of wives or mothers, no strength to bear the burdens which fell upon their shoulders, no inspiration, either for the present or the future,

Cut off from all the means of obtaining an education, she was left without intellectual resources and therefore was looked upon as an inferior being.

Without the present privileges of our sex, tyrannized over by the lords and masters, they were able to wield but very little influence.

Worse than that, no sympathy was expressed for these, our down-trodden and injured sisters, reared under the baneful influences of these false religions.

No one to come to them and direct their thoughts to a higher and better life. No word to arouse aspirations and longings for communion and fellowship beyond their own sphere. Silently and secretly they wear their lives away like a bird beating its wings against the wires of its gilded cage.

No recognition was made of the interests of the immortal soul.

Woman had no field in which to exercise her talents, no outlet to the energies which God had given her, so she wasted away.

Without schools, books, friends, with no hope for immortality, she took no interest in bettering the conditions about her, or striving for the elevation of society

But now we turn to another page and look upon a different scene.

Woman, brought under the influence of true religion, finds her position changed, the horizon of her hopes enlarged and full scope given to her powers.

THE ELEVATION OF WOMAN HAS BEEN IN PROPORTION TO THE GROWTH OF CHRISTIANITY.

See the prominent part which she was permitted to take in the early history of our religion.

She was not only the mother of our Savior, but His comforter during the lonely hours of His pilgrimage.

She was the first to discover the joyful truth of the Resurrection.

After the ascension, when the disciples returned to the upper room in Jerusalem, several women were among the number to receive the blessed influences of the Pentecostal shower.

We are now drawing near to the close of the first decade of the twentieth century; a period famed for its great developement.

Our W. G. M. S. has reached the year of its twenty-sixth convention with a record of work accomplished which should make the women of our church thrill with pride.

Hospitals, centres of beneficent influence have been established, schools planted here and there, homes for the children and infirm; the messengers of peace have been sent into the home and foreign land carrying the glad tidings of salvation. Still there is not to be complete satisfaction over the work which has been done. That would mean no ambition, no desire to go further in the Lord's service. Whilst therefore, we, the women of the church, rejoice over the accomplishments of the past, the souls saved and the influences which have gone forth to make glad the City of our God, still the millenium has not yet come, and the trail of the serpent is to be seen in the land.

The divine call comes to every person to labor in her own appointed sphere. More and more we are led to believe there are no mistakes in the economy of divine grace, but that every life is a plan of the Great Architect. Such being the case, all God's gifts and opportunities are to be treated as a sacred trust to be employed "as unto the Lord." "Whatsoever ye do, do it heartily, as unto the Lord."

It should be our aim to become masters of the true philosophy in dealing with the affairs of life. First things should always be given first place.

As representatives of the different branches of the Women's Work of our beloved church, let us look down deep into our hearts and see if we have chosen that good part which our Savior commended in Mary. Love for God and love for the members of the human family are the foundation stones upon which we must rear the structure of christian service.

Our endeavors run out along different lines. The greatness of the work, the multiplicity of channels along which our influence may extend, charm and thrill the soul.

But these all converge into one great path leading directly to the centre of life and our purpose should be to have the heart rescued from the enemy and transformed into a citadel for the faith of Christ.

As all roads lead to Rome, so all the energies of the individual, all the forces of our organization should be centred upon the purpose to make the heart right with God and the will submissive to Jesus, our Lord and King.

It is the Holy Spirit who leads the way and points to the doors of opportunity, which have been thrown wide open.

The widening of the scope of our Foreign Mission work is one of the marked evidences of the blessing of God. At the beginning there were but little groups here and there, touched by the truth, but now the field has widened and extended so that in those missions under our direct control over 40,000 people are gathered upon the Sabbath to listen to the preaching of the Gospel. It is like an endless chain set in motion, which never ceases to draw souls to the cross.

Wonderful, indeed, the way in which different countries of the old world have been prepared to receive the truth. With the change of the governmental conditions in China, there is a new attitude towards civilization and christianity. The old wall will soon be broken down and the foreigner made welcome, affording an opportunity to the christian missionary, which he has not before enjoyed.

The eagerness of the Japanese to hear the truth is well known.

It may be also, that the recent revolution in Turkey may be God's way of opening up that country to the teaching of the christian religion.

A survey of the home land gives an added sense of duty. Today, as never before, the great command of our Savior is laid upon our hearts.

Over in the North west a little band of Red men are stretching out their hands asking for the bread of life.

Down in the sunny South-land is a nation of those who for generations were denied their birth-right, who now seek enlightenment and a place in the family of our Elder Brother.

The Mountaineers of the South, closely akin to us in color and in antecedents, possessing the rudiments of knowledge, are now clamoring for the truth.

Looking out over the horizon, the scene takes an added color and the heart beats faster as we see that long train of immigrants coming to our shores, as if God, in recognition of the feebleness of our efforts to send the message to distant people, brings them to our doors.

Looking out over the world, with this panoramic view, the lines separating the different fields of mission endeavor, fade away and we realize as never before that the "field is the world."

This is the day of specialization. Each one has some talent, some one thing which she can do better than any other person. If each one of the 75,000 women of our church would thus be using her powers, there could be no question concerning the results.

The call of God comes tonight for the consecration of all powers of our womanhood to this great cause.

May this convention, under the blessing of God, emphasize the importance of prayer, and be led to increased faith and consecration.

The Committee on Resolutions presented their report, which was adopted and is as follows:

Report of the Committee on Resolutions.

Whereas, our Father, God, in his guiding, protecting care over us has brought the Women's General Missionary Society to its twenty-sixth mile-stone.

Resolved:

I—That having closed the most prosperous year's work, both Home and Foreign, in the history of our Women's Board, in acknowledgment of God's hand in our work, we turn our grateful hearts unto Him, whence cometh our strength and help.

Resolved:

II—That while we are grateful, yet our efforts seem weak, and our work inefficient as a return for the great love God has given in the gift of His Son for a sinful, needy world.

Resolved:

III—That returning to our homes we will resume our duties with greater zeal and enthusiasm; we will pray more fervently and give of our substance and ourselves, and will press forward as "Unto the Lord," for lost needy souls.

Resolved:

IV—That we wish to have on record, our appreciation of the noble band of women, who faithfully and untiringly have led us to our present measure of success, especially are we grateful for the services of our president, Mrs. Hervey, also the officers associated with her, who have managed our convention with so much grace, dignity and capability.

Resolved:

V—That our hearts be filled with sympathy for the several members of our Board, who are detained from this convention on account of sickness, also that we extend our sympathy to our Foreign Missionaries, who are at present in ill health.

Resolved:

VI—That the convention express a vote of thanks to Pastors and members of the United Presbyterian churches of Buffalo, the convention committee and the Caledonia Presbyterial for the most successful and delightful manner in which this convention was managed; also to the citizens, whose hospitality and good will have made all happy; also the choir and ushers, who have so faithfully contributed to our pleasure and comfort; not forgetting the services of the good ladies of the Christian church and kindly mention of the press.

Miss Irma G. Allen,
Mrs. D. C. Porter,
Miss Nannie Leacox,
Mrs. Ella Hawkins.

Mrs. H. C. Campbell, Home Mission Secretary, in her report, gave us an account of what we have done for Home Missions.

This report was, on motion, adopted.

The following request from the Foreign Missionaries was presented:

"We would request that two members of your Board be asked to spend the coming year in our three foreign fields and that their expenses be met in the same way as that of our lady missionaries, i. e., their traveling to and from the field and the lady missionary's salary while in the fields to meet expenses.

Mrs. Robinson moved that the request be granted and that two members of the Board be sent as soon as possible, Presbyterials and individuals to be responsible for the expenses. An amendment was made that the General Missionary Society be responsible for the expenses.

On motion, Mrs. Annie R. Herron was elected Honorary President of the Women's General Missionary Society this year. The local Committee for 1910 are Mrs. R. R. Rutledge, Mrs. R. R. Keller and Mrs. Wm. Schattgen.

Minutes read and adopted.

Rev. Mr. Mackey closed with prayer and benediction.

Mrs. J. L. Hervey, President.
Mrs. J. T. Logue, Secretary.

Report of Committee on Memorials.

Your Committee on Memorials recommended that the Memorial from Monongahela Presbyterial be not granted for the following reasons:

I—Because the three years of testing the change from bringing in the thank offerings in spring to fall, have proven a success, in that but few of the over 900 auxiliaries of W. G. M. S., failed to fall into line at once with more liberal offerings, and these have continued to increase their offerings from year to year.

II—Because there can be only twelve month's time between the closing of the Treasurer's books whether that be in the spring or in the fall, and in either case delayed offerings would come in after the Treasurer's books would close.

III—Because the deposit of the total offerings at 4 per cent interest from December to June 1, when it is distributed to the various departments of work, brings in a goodly sum to meet the year's expense of carrying on the thank offering department, whereas, if the deposit were made in April, the interest would not be sufficient to meet said expense.

IV—Closing the Treasurer's books for the year's offering, January 1st, gives abundant time for Societies to fill in their report blanks for the Presbyterial Thank offering Secretaries, and for them to forward the same to the General Secretary to compile for an annual report to the May Convention.

V—The paying of offerings into the treasury in April, would greatly add to the work of the Treasurer, who from April 1 to April 15, when her books close for contributions, receives more money than during the previous six months.

Respectfully submitted,
Mrs. M. C. Porter,
Mrs. M. H. S. Jackson.
Miss E. J. Shannon.

REPORT OF

Finance Committee.

FOR YEAR ENDING APRIL 15, 1909.

Total $180 50.

We rejoice over this practical evidence of increasing interest in the work of the Finance Committee.

No new loans were granted during the year and no congregation has paid its loan in full owing to the general financial stringency. Ten have made partial payments and with one exception all have paid the interest in full to date.

The following detailed account will show the exact condition of the Loans and Investment Account:

Where do our Home Mission Pastors Live? Our Responsibility.

To the question—Where do our Home Mission pastors live?--the answer may seem at first easily given. The pastor lives somewhere within his field of labor. But it is this vague somewhere that is the cause of much anxiety, and often real detriment to the new and struggling mission. Not long since, a minister wrote he had been sent, by Presbytery, to a new town for the purpose of establishing a United Presbyterian mission. The town was growing and the outlook for our Church was promising. He wrote that a House of Worship would be secured by the help of another Board of the Church, but a residence for the pastor and his family could not be found. Would the Women's Board grant a loan for this purpose? This is a story, in substance, oft repeated to your Board. It is answered in the affirmative as promptly as our missionary societies make it possible. And just here is our responsibility. It is to the Women's General Missionary Society, alone, the Church looks for the accomplishment of this work. This is distinctively women's work.

One hundred fourteen (114) congregations, at one time mission stations, have a parsonage as part of their church property by the aid of the Women's General

Missionary Society. Thirteen (13) of these congregations secured a parsonage during the year which this report covers as follows:

Rock Island, Ill. (final payment)	$ 1 500 00
Conway, Pa. (final payment)	1 500 00
Central Falls, R. I.,	2 500 00
Toronto, Ohio,	2 000 00
Altus, Oklahoma,	1 500 00
Tulsa ,Oklahoma,	3 000 00
Roosevelt, Oklahoma,	600 00
Commerce, Michigan,	470 00
Waterloo, Iowa	3 000 00
Morgan Hill, Cal.,	1 000 00
Emporia, Kansas	2 500 00
South Sharon, Pa.	2 900 00
Allison Park, Pa. (first payment)	1 000 00
Riverside, Cal. (first payment)	1 500 00
Gas City, Kansas,	500 00

Forty-four (44) loans have been re-paid in full, leaving seventy (70) congregations still under obligations to the Women's General Missionary Society. Six (6) congregations made final payments on their loans during the past year: Golden, Ill.; Fifth, Chicago, Ill.; Orchard, Neb.; First, Topeka, Kansas; Winterset, Iowa and Moline, Ill. The last two named should receive special mention, as these loans were re-paid two and one-half years in advance of the time specified.

At the beginning of the year, and throughout the greater part of it, considerable anxiety was felt by your Board for the reason the amount in the applications for loans exceeded the amount of money on hand. On this account, a circular letter was sent to each society, asking for some contribution.

It is gratifying to report that many of the societies promptly responded to this appeal and the contributions at the close of the year were larger than in any previous year.

We would make special acknowledgment of the good work done by the Junior societies in their response to the call for contributions to the Tulsa, or Junior's parsonage.

For the coming year, we urge that each society—Women's, Young Women's and Junior's determine upon a stated amount to be given to the parsonage work. Do not let the matter pass until near the close of the year with some kind of an understanding that if there should be a balance in your treasury it could be given to the parsonage. Send the money to the Treasurer early in the year, or at regular intervals. This is not a new work, but one of the first departments undertaken by our Women's General Missionary Society and has grown so that now $1,000 per month is needed from the contributions of the societies in addition to the re-payment on loans if this work is to be successfully carried on. We again urge that you stand by and broaden this part of our mission work by your constant support of it. In the past, the parsonage fund has rendered assistance to our Home Mission churches. Last year, a request came from the foreign field and your Board agreed to give such aid as may be desired from time to time.

The financial report is herewith appended:

Home For Missionarie's Children.

The question of opening a Home in the vicinity of one of the denominational colleges for the children of Home and Foreign Missionaries, who would be compelled to be separated from their parents during the time of procuring an education, was for some time in the minds of interested women in different parts of the church.

At the annual convention of the Women's General Missionary Society, held in Monmouth, Ill., May, 1901, this question was brought up for discussion.

There being several women, foreign missionaries present, a committee was authorized to confer with them in reference to the advisability of establishing such a Home. This conference resulted in an action by the convention authorizing the Women's Board to open a Home at New Wilmington, Pa., where the children could have an opportunity of attending Westminster College. This point was selected because of its convenient access to the Board, which would have the management of the Home.

Since the Home was opened in 1902, sixteen young people have been under its care; thirteen children of Foreign Missionaries and three of Home Missionaries. Of this number, five have been graduated from the college, holding high places in their classes. Three are at present teaching in the home land and one in Egypt.

For two years past, the children of missionaries, seeking an education, have been in attendance at the different church colleges, and otherwise provided for. The girls attending Westminster College are well cared for in the Girl's Dormitory.

The prospect of the need of the Home in the near future, does not seem to justify the keeping of it open for such a small number. Therefore, the Women's Board has placed the Home for sale. The property was purchased at a reasonable price, when no suitable house could be rented. It has since, so increased in value that the Board expects to sell it at an advanced price in the near future, and use the proceeds in other needy departments of the Women's work.

The financial statement for the year is as follows:

REPORT OF

Women's Missionary Magazine.

It is our pleasure to report a year of earnest effort on the part of your Magazine Committee, and of gratifying results. Our aim has been to awaken a larger interest in the work of the Women's General Missionary Society by bringing directly before the women of the church, the great extent of the work, and its imperative needs. How much desert land has been reclaimed during the year; how many garden spots made more beautiful; how many thorns and briars replaced by the fir and the maple tree; only God and the helping angels can fully know. We acknowledge but one inlet of power (The Holy Spirit) bu know there are many outlets, the life, or what one is; the lips, or what one says; the service, or what one renders; the money, or what we do not keep; prayer, or what we claim in Jesus' name. The Magazine has insisted upon the use of all these outlets, with what results you can answer better than your committee. We have urged great things in the name of the Master; great things are only little things put together. How encouraging, to think of this, when confronted with a great task. Remember that it is only a group of little tasks, any one of which can be easily accomplished.

There is only one entirely efficient way to spread missionary intelligence, that is, by the Missionary Magazine, the only organ of the church that is entirely missionary. The Magazine endeavors to fill the reader full of the facts that make her feel how much the world needs her sacrifice and service, to inspire her with a vision of what it would mean for the entire church to swing in and rush its banner forward everywhere; to show her where she can take hold with her own hands and where she can lend power to the hands of others; to develop the feeling of personal responsibility and a willingness to do.

Although the subscription list has been increased this year by the addition of three hundred and forty new names, the Magazine does not reach every woman in the church. Is this an impossible task?—we think not—If every one who is now taking it, would secure one new subscriber, the task would soon be accomplished. Will not every one try?

The agents in each congregation are faithful and energetic; most of them send some new names each year. We wish, in this report, to extend to them our sincere thanks, and to say to them, we do appreciate their efforts.

This year has been one of light and shade, for we have gone down to the shadow of the valley with our dear Mrs. Dean, and came back alone, for she passed on into the sunshine of Beulah land; one more worker gone to her reward. Her chief joy in this life was in doing good, in serving others; thus she was blessed and made a blessing.

Twenty-two years of love, toil, sacrifice and service have been given the Magazine. It is our hope that many more years of service and upward guiding may be granted those having it in charge.

Respectfully submitted,
Mrs. S. M. Kelso, Secretary.

REPORT OF

General Secretary of Junior Work

The Junior message, this year, is one that must fill with enthusiasm every one who loves the children. These bands of noble boys and girls can always be depended on if they are given half a chance, as this report will show.

The only minor chord we strike is that less than one-half of the congregations of the church, are giving thought to the training of the children through the Junior Society. The first item to be reported on the blanks is the name of the society. This has had peculiar interest to me this year because of the requests that have come from time to time that we adopt a uniform name. This was not thought wise by the Board at present, but without effort on the part of any one we seem to have arrived at a uniform name, as 331 of the societies reported as Junior Missionary societies. 49 as Junior Christian Union and 33 as Junior Christian Endeavor.

From 55 Presbyterials we present the following comparative report from Junior Societies and Little Light Bearers:

	1907	1908	1909
Number Societies	437	456	487
Number Members	13,341	16,242	15,104
Number Honorary Members	711	748	562
Contributions	$9,386	$11,374	$10,172 80
Special Work	2,397	2,260	2,090 80
Thank-Offering	1,943	3,146	3,120 18
Little Light Bearer's Membership	1 235	1,570	1,622
Number Uniting with the Church	753	900	1,050
Graduated into Y. P. C. U.		684	637

We give the above comparative statement that the Women's General Missionary Society may see the growth of the work since the General Assembly placed all the Junior work under its care. These figures give evidence that the women of the Church have come up nobly to the help of this department. Our comparative statement shows a net gain of 31 Societies, 30 have been organized this year. The membership is not quite up to that of last year, but exceeds that of 1907.

No one expected the Junior contributions to reach those of last year because of the large Silver Anniversary offering, and it would not be fair to make comparison, but the figures show they have increased $1,763.00 in their regular offering as compared with 1907.

From the Little Light Bearer's fund, $100.00 is paid each year toward the support of Lois Reed McClure of India, the balance to the Infant's Department, Sialkot Hospital.

The special work did not seem to appeal to the Juniors, the past year, but they have exceeded our expectations, and more than the Two Thousand Dollars usually asked for, has been paid. The Atlantic Avenue, McKeesport Society runs away ahead of all others in membership, reporting 200. The 12th church, Allegheny stands next, with 143. Salem, N. Y., "Young Helpers" takes the lead in contributions, $326. Atlantic Avenue, McKeesport, stands second in its contributions to the regular departments, $208.00. Sixth Church, Pittsburg, $184.00. Fifth, Philadelphia, $142 00. First Church, Allegheny, gives the largest thank-offering, $185 00. But one society which should have its name on the honor roll, is Midway, Pa., (Center Church) a country congregation in Chartiers Presbytery, with 60 members, gave $183, and $30.20 of a thank offering; total $213 00. All to missions except $22.00. The Superintendent writes:—"This is the result of earnest prayer and earnest effort, as I am troubled with smallness of purse and limited time, and cannot help as I would like."

How gratifying to note that a larger number than in any former year have united with the church. A child saved, means a life of service for the Master.

We are pleased to note that eleven of the Junior Superintendents reported to us are of the male persuasion, and their societies show good work. Sixty-four Junior societies do not take the Junior Magazine. We find the new Junior Mission Study book has been largely used. Some of the Presbyterials report it in use in all of the societies—others expect to take it up later.

A beautiful new Junior pin in pink and white enamel and sterling silver has aroused the enthusiasm of the Juniors in societies where it has been given as a reward of special effort.

The Junior Life Membership fund was started in 1905, the proceeds of the fund to be used for the endowment of beds for children in Sialkot hospital, India—$350.00 each. In less than four years, sufficient money has been received to endow three beds and purchase and furnish the same, with a balance in treasury. Ten dollars will make any one under fifteen years of age a Life member.

Life members received this year, 25.

Hill, Kirkwood, Ill.; Sarah Eleanor Steele, 2nd Wilkinsburg, Pa.; Margaret Caroline Munn, Waterloo, Iowa.; Lillian McP. Laing, Carnegie, Pa.; Myra E. Payles, Midway, Pa.; Andrew J. Russel, Midway, Pa.; Eleanor Gibson, Midway, Pa.

Total life membership to date, 120. Four of these are Indian boys. Three have been paid for in memory of dear ones.

A department for Junior Leaders has been maintained by your Secretary from month to month, in the Women's Missionary Magazine. We appreciate the many answers to our question on the blanks, as to subjects to be discussed in this department. A number of these are on our list, and others will be given attention. Will our Junior leaders bear in mind that the subjects will have added interest if we can get the opinion of others and let our workers be as good at helping in the discussion as they have been in suggesting subjects to be discussed.

SUGGESTIONS.

Do not fail to notify the General Secretary when a new Presbyterial Junior Secretary has been elected, giving full name and address. The many changes last year made it difficult to get reports.

The retiring Secretary should give to the new one, the reports of the previous year.

When a new society is formed, no matter by what name it is called, it should be reported to the General Secretary, giving name of Superintendent, number of members, etc. Some have thought Junior Christian Endeavor did not belong to us.

New life members should be promptly reported to your Secretary, that she may send the life membership certificates.

There seems to be a growing tendency in many societies to contribute only to the special work and thank offering. Juniors should be trained to have an interest in all lines of work.

Do not permit the Juniors to send 'Cents' to the Presbyterial Treasurer, as they cannot be counted hereafter, but must go into the Contingent Fund. Always send even dollars.

☞The special work, for the next two years, will be the erection of a building in connection with the Memorial Hospital, Sialkot, India, for the doctors and workers in the hospital. This will be known as the Elizabeth Gordon Home, and will cost $5000.

Mrs. N. Wylie Stevenson,
Secretary.

THE TENTH ANNUAL REPORT OF THE

Quite a lively discussion took place at a recent conference of representatives of Women's Foreign Boards, as to the advisability of starting an inter-denominational missionary magazine for children. There were many speakers in favor of the scheme and many arguments which sounded plausible. But when some one raised the question, "Should this paper be started, ought the denominational Children's Missionary Magazines be done away with?" one after another answered emphatically "No!" The reason for this "No" is not hard to see. Just as the children in our public schools are first taught the Geography and History of their own land, and afterwards introduced to general history and to the maps of other countries, so each denomination should see to it that its children are first informed and well-grounded on the missionary work of his own church, before claiming his interest and sympathy in the world-wide mission field.

For ten years our Junior Missionary Magazine has been at work with the specific object in view of informing United Presbyterian children about United Presbyterian mission work, and thus forming a link between the children of our Christian homes and the neglected children of our own and other lands who are looking to them for help. Just so far as the Magazine accomplishes this object it is a success; so far as it does not it is a failure. We have reason to believe that not a few of our young missionaries and other christian workers were first stimulated to missionary effort, by some appeal in the Magazine, and that many a childish voice has been lifted in prayer and many a little hand stretched out to help because of some message conveyed in its pages. If this be so, our first decade of effort has not been in vain, and those who, like Mrs. E. M. Hill, the first editor, Miss McLaughry, who succeeded her, and Mrs. N. Wylie Stevenson, the business manager, from the beginning, have reason to thank God and take courage.

As we begin a new decade, the question naturally arises, "How can we improve our magazine? How can we make it more useful?" To improve its outward appearance, all that is needed is a larger subscription list. The editor and the publisher have many a scheme for beautifying and embellishing when "our ship comes in."

But after all, it is the subject matter which counts most and the question of making the contents interesting, and at the same time instructive, is the most important we have to solve. It would be a great help to the editor if leaders would send her their opinion on the following questions:

1. Is there too much space taken up with the lessons?
2. Are things for the children to do, such as post card contests, puzzles, calendar-painting, etc., helpful in gaining the children's interest?
3. Can you suggest any way of improving the "Cozy Corner Department?"
4. Are the notes on the United Mission study of any use to you?
5. Should there be two pages devoted to matter suited for the very little folks?
6. Have you any suggestions as to how to make the magazine more interesting?

This year has been an encouraging one, in that the subscription list has been slowly growing. The children seem to be much interested in the Missionary calendar idea and do not wish to miss a single number. For the designs of these calendars, thanks are due to Mrs. J. D. Sands, Miss Grace Garland, and Mr. D. Fuller Stewart. Miss McLaughery has given us most helpful lesson notes and Miss Agnes Dickson is providing the Hints for Leaders, using the Junior Mission Study book. These two departments mean a great deal of thought and work throughout the year. Miss Jane Kerr has given valuable assistance in compiling and proof-reading. Miss Fannie Bradford has been the most faithful correspondent among our missionaries. Two continued missionary stories, which we promised our readers at the beginning of the year, have failed, as yet, to materialize. But we have not yet given up hope,—Missionaries are busy folk, and we must let them choose their own time for writing.

Editor.

Business Manager of Junior Missionary Magazine.

With the first number of the Junior Missionary Magazine, January 1899, 5,116 paid subscriptions were entered on our books. The Magazine more than paid expenses the first three years. In 1904 it was enlarged four pages, but the same price maintained. With the addition of pretty colored cover, the price remained the same, and is less than any other child's paper published of similar size. Our present report shows the subscription list has not kept pace with the enlargement and improvement of the Magazine. As nearly all other denominations publish missionary papers for the children, we cannot expect patronage from them, but we do expect the Junior Societies and Primary departments of our Sabbath Schools to support their own publication.

In our report last year, we suggested three plans by which the subscription list might be increased. Plan No. 3, was to use your utmost endeavor to introduce the Magazine in the Sabbath School. This plan has borne fruit in a number of instances. West Newton, Pennsylvania, reports an excellent plan. A Literature Secretary is appointed in the Sabbath School. She distributes the Magazines to the classes of suitable age. The scholar receiving a Magazine, is expected to read and return it the following Sabbath to the teacher and tell something of its contents. The teacher then gives it to another member of the class. The Women's Missionary Society pays for the Magazines. The plan is worth trying. Our mailing list varies from 6,500 to 7,300 copies a month. Our receipts have averaged $58.00 a month and our expenditures $116.00. This shortage was met by the receipt of $132.00 from the sale of "LITTLE BROTHERS OF MINE," published a year ago, and $500.00 from the Thank Offering. Bids are taken every year on the printing of the Magazine and this year we decreased the printing expenses about $80.00. More than 300 sample copies have been sent out.

Literature Department.

An advance may be noted all along the line in the Literature Department—in amount of literature distributed, in receipts and in expenses.

Almost half of the entire edition of 5,000 copies of the new Mission Study for Juniors, prepared by Mrs. John A. Wilson, has been disposed of. This book should be in the hands of every Junior in our church, as it deals with all departments of work carried on by the United Presbyterian Church.

The members of the missionary societies are certainly more interested in the study of world wide missions than ever before, if the number of mission study books purchased by them is any indication.

The new Junior pins have taken well and although only on the market since January, many orders for them have been received.

The envelopes prepared for all the organizations under the care of the Women's General Missionary Society, have also sold well and a new edition has been printed.

Gradually societies are discovering the value of the "Credit Order" for leaflets.

Two Young Women's Societies were given prizes for reading missionary literature. One chose the library of "Nearer and Farther East," the other a library of books on India. The latter society added to the amount given as a prize, a sum sufficient to secure a year's subscription to "Missionary Review of the World."

Last year we announced that subscriptions for "Blessed Be Egypt," would be received by this Committee and seven (7) subscriptions were sent in. Only three of these have been renewed.

The large number of free leaflets reported, should be noted. The greater proportion of these were Temperance leaflets.

At the last Convention, held in Pittsburg, the following recommendation was adopted:

"That we adopt the color of this year's badges for the future and that Presbyterials purchase the ribbon of the Literature Committee. Presbyterial Secretaries to send badges with the credentials to the delegates. Badges to be worn enroute to Convention."

In compliance with this action, badges were prepared and announcement made in March and April numbers of the Magazine. Only thirty-six Presbyterials ordered badges for their delegates.

Our printing bill, this past year, has been very large—$815.80—Mission Study for Juniors comprises more than half of the whole amount.

Fifteen dollars and ninety-eight cents were expended on costumes of Egyptians and North American Indians.

The postage bill for the year,—$86.34—is 50 per cent larger than that for last year.

April 1st, 1908 showed a balance of	$ 226 86
Total receipts for the year, including thank offering	1 913 83
Total disbursements for the year	1 855 05
Balance on hand, April 1st, 1909	$ 284 84

More than fifty (50) bills were sent out during March, covering over $20.00. Most of these, however, have been paid.

Seventeen hundred orders were filled, going to thirty-nine (39) States, as well as to India, Egypt and Germany. Almost half of the orders were from Pennsylvania, New York, Ohio and Iowa, following in the order named.

Suggestions

we would make at this time:

(1) ORDER IN TIME. There may be other orders in before yours, also mails are frequently delayed.

(2) PREPAY YOUR ORDER. You may forget it later; then it costs us money and time to remind you.

(3) SECURE THE LATEST CATALOGUE, from which you may select the leaflets desired.

(4) BE EXPLICIT IN ORDERING. We are not mind readers.

(5) WRITE YOUR NAME AND ADDRESS PLAINLY. This year some orders came without a signature. This caused delays, as it takes time to investigate.

Respectfully,

Mrs. John A. Crawford,
Literature Secretary.

REPORT OF

Statistical Secretary.

FOR YEAR ENDING MARCH 31, 1909.

It is with a feeling of joy and pleasure, not unmixed with a feeling of sadness and sorrow that your Statistical Secretary makes her first report to the Women's General Missionary Society. As in all business, it is necessary to take an invoice once a year; to call directors and stock-holders together; to hear the reports of those having the business in charge and to discuss plans for the advancement of the business; so, in our Father's business, we, the members of the Women's General Missionary Society meet to hear the reports of work done during the past year and to plan for more extensive work in the coming year. We feel that God has indeed blessed us; let us thank Him for blessings bestowed and go on with greater zeal and earnestness in the Master's work. In 1908, our Silver Anniversary year, when every one was making a special effort, we were represented by sixty-seven Presbyterials; 1,205 Women's, Young Women's and Junior Auxiliaries with a total membership of 34,103, and total contributions of $96,147; with a Thank-offering of $75,950 39. The year ending March 31, 1909 we are represented by 66 Presbyterials, 1,317 Women's, Young Women's and Junior Auxiliary societies with a total membership of 36,033, an increase of 1,930 members.

The contributions are as follows:

Foreign Missions	$ 31 002
Home Missions	8 800
Indian Missions	1 807
Freedmen Missions	4 678

Total	$ 91 094

Estimated value	$ 6,370

*No. of Junior Magazines 5,110

THANK-OFFERING FOR 1908.

Senior	$36 008 39
Young Women's	3 185 93
Junior	3 124 65
Total	$42 318 97

Of our 66 Presbyterials, not one failed to send in a report—but some Societies in those Presbyterials did not send in a report—could we not next year, not only have a report from every Presbyterial, but also from every Society? The Presbyterial situated at the greatest distance from the home-land, was the first report to reach your Secretary—Sialkot, India. The reports from India and Egypt are worthy of mention, as their contributions, which are very good, represent more of self-denial and sacrifice than do ours. One Presbyterial, Princeton, was dissolved in October, 1908, and the societies received into Indiana Presbyterial.

In some cases, reports will not appear as sent, for cents are not counted except in the thank offering. It would make the work much easier if societies would remember to send even dollars, except in the thank offering. Dime fund money is credited to thank offering and life membership to Missions. When money was sent not designated, it was divided among Foreign, Indian, Freedmen, Church Extension and Parsonage.

* This report is not complete.

One Secretary reports, by a little correspondence, she unearthed ten more societies this year than were reported last year.

While some of the reports were beautifully written and correct, will you not kindly take some suggestions for the coming year?

(1) Please notify the Statistical Secretary when new Presbyterial officers are elected, giving their full names and addresses. When the Presbyterial has a good set of officers, why not retain them in office—especially the Secretary—until others are found who are really capable. It is such a help to have officers who are alert, energetic and interested in the Master's work.

(2) That congregational societies keep in touch with the Presbyterial officers, at least know their names; and send their reports promptly to the Presbyterial Secretary.

(3) That Presbyterial Secretaries acknowledge receipt of blanks for annual report as soon as possible after their arrival; and please read directions at the top of the large blank before filling out.

On account of the expense incurred in publishing the annual number of the Women's Magazine, it was decided in a conference held between the Magazine Committee and the Women's Board, that the Statistical report, as well as reports of the Secretaries, be condensed for publication—so the contributions will be in three columns in the Magazine—one for Missions, one for other objects, and one for thank offering. This action was taken at the suggestion of the Magazine Committee.

"One more day's work for Jesus,
How sweet the work has been;
To tell the story,
To show the glory,
Where Christ's flock enter in.
Lord, if I may,
I'll toil another day."

Respectfully submitted,

Mrs. Caroline Porter Hill.

REPORT OF

Young Women's Work.

The Young Women's Work, as a separate department, is just about five years old. It has not had a mush-room growth, but a steady and healthful one. After careful investigation, we believe there are about 16,000 young women who should be identified with the Young Women's Missionary Societies, and be interested and contributing members. Our present membership is just about one third of that number. The important question is, how interest the other two thirds and secure their co-operation and help? The foundation of the work has been well laid by former Secretaries and we are ready now to begin to build the permanent structure. The present is the crucial moment.

There's no time like the present time,
The future is not ours;
If we would make our lives sublime,
Improve the present hours.

The present is the time to build
The structure of our past.
Let every stone and tile be laid
Of thoughts and deeds to last.

Our report for the year just past, may not be flattering, but it is encouraging—160 Societies, including Young Women, King's Daughter's and Mission Circles, were reported this year; and 34 new Societies, making a total of 194 Young Women's Societies to date, with 3,311 members.

Contributions for the year...	$ 11 101 00
Thank offering.....	3 695 62
Total	$ 14 796 62

Of this amount, $1,561 was given toward the Young Women's Special Work, which is the support of our three missionaries, Miss Totten, in the Southland; Miss White, in India, and Miss Torrance, in the Home field. Their salaries are paid in full this year by the "Young Women's Special."

Miss Sue Cooper White has resigned, as she is to be married soon; but the Board will have another young woman to take her place as soon as she lays down the cars. We wish for Miss White's true happiness and abundant success. We are glad she is to continue in missionary work. We congratulate the groom.

The residue of the $14,796, was given to congregational work, and to the work of the Women's General Missionary Society.

Since the work has grown as it has, the blanks used hithereto are entirely inadequate, and new ones will be provided, which should make it much easier for the Presbyterial Secretaries. Our aim is to have a Presbyterial Secretary of Young Women's work in every Presbytery; and at least one Young Women's Society in every congregation.

The mothers and older women are passing, one by one, and joining the ranks of "Our Crowned Ones." Shall not the young women gladly and resolutely take up the work? The young women need the work—the work needs the energy and enthusiasm of the young women. On the reports sent out was the question, "How can the General Secretary Help You?" The answer came back many times, "send us literature"—"tell us about the work," etc. Now, my dear girls, if I had time to write to each of you, it is not wise to do for you what you can do for yourselves. Any time you write and ask me a definite question, I shall be more than glad to answer it, but the Presbyterial Secretary should provide herself with, and be able to furnish the literature Secretary latest catalogue to the auxiliaries in her Presbyterial. It will give you all the books and leaflets sold by the Women's Board and all orders to the Literature Department will be promptly filled. By reading the Magazines from month to month, you can learn of the work, as in no other way. Have mission news and facts told at your monthly meetings. Will the Presbyterial Secretaries kindly read the article in the May Magazine, "The Duty of a Presbyterial Secretary?" If you follow its instructions, I believe it will be mutually helpful, to you, to the auxiliaries, and to your General Secretary. We need each other's help.

On the old battle ground at Concord, Mass., stands a monument which bears the inscription:

"By the rude bridge which spans the flood,
Their flag to April's breeze unfurled;
'Twas here the embattled farmer stood
And fired the shot heard round the world."

It is within the power of the Young Women of the United Presbyterian Church to do a work, the influence of which shall be felt all round the world. If 3,311 members gave $14,796, how much would 16,000 members give? ($71,520.)

Young woman, time is passing! It will not be long until you have crossed the meridian. The Master has come and calleth for thee. Will you not give to him your young life in Willing Service? that at the last He may say of you: "She hath done what she could." Shall we take for our motto, the coming year, "For me to live is Christ;"

Mrs. J. A. Alexander.

REPORT OF

Thank-Offering Secretary.

FOR YEAR ENDING APRIL 15, 1909.

One year ago, the Women's General Missionary Society reached its highest plane in giving, in the twenty years of its thank-offering history. At that time the minds and the hearts of the workers were so full of enthusiasm and joy over the success of the entire Silver Anniversary Convention—with "Jesus in the midst," that, like Peter, they were inclined to say:—"Let us make here tabernacles and abide."

But over and above all, was heard the sweet voice of the Lord saying—"Ye are not as yet come to the rest, which the Lord, thy God giveth you;" Deut. 12:9. "Arise, therefore, and be doing, and the Lord will be with thee;" 1 Chron. 22 :16.

The members of the Senior and Junior Societies, were far too grateful for the Lord's blessing upon their efforts in raising a Silver Anniversary offering of $76,000, to fold their arms, and sit idly down, or to turn a deaf ear to His call. So with high aims and great expectations, they entered upon the work of the new year.

The convention had hardly received its final benediction until interrogation points came flying on swift wings to the General Secretary, from all directions asking, "what is your aim for the coming year's thank offering?" Can you not devise something similar to the "yards of dimes," whereby we can keep our societies up on last year's high plane of giving? "Having set our aim higher than any year previous to the Silver Anniversary offering, what help can you give us whereby we can reach it?" This was the ambitious, joyful spirit that moved the thank offering workers all along the line, during the months which preceded the fall "ingatherings."

And what has been the result in figures? Many societies report their offerings far beyond their highest aim.

To compare the offering of the fall of 1908, with that of 1907—the special Silver Anniversary offering, which included the dime fund and the life membership fees,—would be unjust, therefore, to learn what advance has been made in the grace of giving, we compare the 1908 offering with that of 1906. The figures culled from the annual reports of Presbyterials tell a most interesting and encouraging story for the past twelve months. Of sixty-one Presbyterials reporting, forty-seven gave larger offerings than in 1906. Of this number, three made a gain of over $300.00 each, viz: Los Angeles, Frankfort and Des Moines; thirteen made a gain of over $200.00 each; fourteen of over $100.00 each, and the remaining seventeen increased from $10 to $50 each.

☞What is even more encouraging; reports show that eight Presbyterials each gave larger offerings in 1908 than in 1907, to the Silver Anniversary offering. These were DesMoines, Idaho, Brookville, Indiana, Indiana Northern, Pittsburg, Rock Island and Delta, Egypt.

☞The Delta offering, of $678.10, is more than any one of forty-four Presbyterials gave in the home land. The twelve Junior societies of Delta Presbyterial, with an offering of $170.29, gave more than any one of nine Presbyterials in the home church.

☞The 1908 offering of $111.92, from societies in India mission, is larger than any one of six Presbyterials gave in America.

Nine Presbyterials sent in reports from all their auxiliary societies, while nine failed to send in any reports, although repeated efforts were made to secure them.

Of 1,205 societies in the church, only 712 reported the amount of their thank offerings to the General Secretary.

Of this number, 346 made an increase over the offerings of 1906; 173 gave larger gifts than to the Silver Anniversary offering of 1907; 19 gave the same sum as in 1907; 12 more than doubled their 1907 offering; 59 societies gave offerings in 1908, which reported none in 1906; 25 gave in 1908, which gave none in 1907.

Enough figures have been given to prove that the large offering of $76,000 in 1907, in no way interfered with liberal giving the following year.

May God arise and speedily send forth His Holy Spirit in power, to bestow upon the entire church, the grace of liberality!

God stands ready to give this grace to all. Delegates, are you ready to receive it? Are your hearts wide open to the influence of God's Spirit? Are you willing to be made liberal givers in God's sight?

Women's Association.

To the President and members of the Women's General Missionary Society, I bring greetings from the United Presbyterian Women's Association. We are one in the work of the Master, Who came to save mankind. The beloved disciple tells us in Jesus' own words, "I am the vine, ye are the branches." So we, assembled here in His name, are as branches of the vine, and I am here to tell you of the work of the United Presbyterian Women's Association and how we have been honored to be called by His name and do this great work.

Thirty years have passed since a little band of women, with much faith and prayer, started the work of the Association; first caring for orphans. The hospital work later and the Home for the Aged. In the little booklet, which has been prepared and sent here for distribution, you will read the history of our work, and see the pictures of our Children's Home, Columbia Hospital, and Aged People's Home. Step by step, we have been led by a loving Father, and in the words of the Psalmist, we would say: "Oh, give thanks unto the Lord, call on His name, make known His deeds among the people." We do render thanks unto the Lord and we will gladly tell of this wondrous work, which He has permitted us to do.

George Muller and Barnado's work have not been more works of faith and progress than this of our Association. Sometimes we have planned, and our ways have been hedged about, but afterwards even greater things have been given to us and we have been led into wider and better things, and our lives have been made brighter and better by the privilege of sharing in this work. We wish you could all spend a day with our little ones; see their bright, happy faces. Learn the wider and deeper meaning of these words: "their last days shall be their best days," from our aged people who will tell you of the comfort that surrounds their declining years, and the home, which is a sweet foretaste of the heavenly home.

The bright, sunny wards and rooms in our Columbia Hospital, where all the modern appliances and the best of skill is used for the sick and suffering that come to our care. A beautiful dormitory has been completed and furnished in the past year for our nurses, who number fifty-nine. Our first class, of ten, will graduate in June, three of whom are men.

You all know how, for over two years, the president of the Association, Mrs. H. C. Campbell, with her many other duties, has given the hospital her personal supervision. She spared not herself in this work for the Master, and suffering humanity, and we feel that much of the success of the Columbia hospital is due to her cheerful, willing service. We are glad to note that the managers have secured a superintendent, Mary E. Smith, and Mrs. H. C. Campbell has been relieved from over-work. Do we realize how great a privilege it is to be called on to work "In His Name?" We do not ask you to make sacrifices to help to fulfill Christ's commands to care for the orphan, aged and sick, for He promised to those who feed the hungry, visit the sick and clothe the naked, and to you is given the opportunity to share in these promises.

We ask you to take home with you one of these booklets and have it read in your Missionary Society. Give it to your pastor, and have an Association day in your church. Remember our work in your prayers. The Association work is a large field, for we have a room in the Aged People's Home, set apart for foreign missionaries; two memorial rooms set aside in the hospital for their use, and an orphan home has sheltered an orphan boy, who was brought from Egypt. We are looking forward, in the near future, to a larger, better arranged home for the children, where they will have better play grounds and more fresh air and sunshine. Will you help to make this possible? Our hospital has a heavy debt and over one-third of the patients are free patients. Will you help to raise this debt and help some sufferer to be restored to health? Possibly you know some one who is one of the solitary ones in their old days without kith or kin to comfort them as they wearily go down the hill of life.

Our Father has promised these, that He will place them in families, and when old age comes He will not forsake them. Do you not wish to do this work for Him, and to help make some one realize it? He sent His disciples out to preach His word, to heal the sick and said, "Freely ye have received, freely give." We have received much, give back to the Lord a portion of your blessings in helping those less fortunate than you are and in so doing walk in His footsteps, going about doing good.

If you have wealth, consecrate it to the Lord; talents, use them in his service; time to work, work while it is day, for the night cometh when no man works. Today is yours, use the time for we are all pilgrims on a journey and the end may come quickly and a life well spent in Christ's service is only closing our eyes, folding our hands in rest and passing through the gate into the city of our God.

We can not close our report without speaking of our "Crowned Ones" who have laid down their lives and been called to higher service. Miss Mary Lockhart, a faithful and valued member of the Hospital board was called home last month. A busy, useful life in her Master's service has been ended. Mrs. Margaret Clark Trimble passed from earth to Heaven in Columbia Hospital, for which she had labored so long and faithfully as corresponding secretary. She had entered the work when it was the day of small things and was allowed to see Columbia Hospital completed. We do not understand, but dare not question why, for we know our Heavenly Father makes no mistakes. A sweet, gentle, loving life here ended suddenly. The Master called her home and we know that he has welcomed her with these words, "in as much as ye have done it unto the least of these, ye have also done it unto Me." "We do not count them dead—no, no, it is not dying to wear a crown, among God's people dwelling. The glorious triumph swelling of Him whose way we own."

Mrs. W. P. Price.

A Generation Free-born.

Mission work among the Freedmen of the southern States was begun almost half a century ago, when four million of the negro race were told that the law of the land as well as the law of God acknowledged all men within her borders free. Of these four million souls death has claimed a large per cent; in fact most of them are in the realm beyond the grave. The ten million negroes in our land today are free born American citizens and as such are entitled to all the privileges of the sons and daughters of a free land —religion, education, and industry.

The poet may claim that nothing much is in a name but we who talk in prose would appreciate a name for missions to the negro that would more nearly express the truth as regards the majority of the race. But however conditions may change, the work of the Lord eudureth, and this that we call freedmens missions is prospering in our hands. We have the past year increased the number of our workers one, making a total of thirty-nine.

We began the year 1908 with a balance in the treasury of over fifteen hundred dollars; we will begin 1909 with almost nothing in the treasury. The need of the black man in the heart of Africa appeals to us, but what about the need of the black man at our door. He is here to stay. He is not alone to blame for his present condition; and yet many of our societies, some whole presbyterys have not a single dollar for this work. "This ought ye to have done and not to have left the other undone."

At Bristol, Tenn., we find Miss Woodfin teaching sewing and some of the work done under her direction would be a credit to any woman. At Knoxville our veteran Bible reader, Miss McCahon, continues to visit among all classes of the people and she reports that while many may be found reading the word, many also do not understand what they read, but the promise is, "My word shall not return unto me void." 1188 visits were made by her during the year and 99 meetings held. Miss Mary Fisher and Miss Anna Weir, of the dressmaking and sewing department of Knoxville College, state, that as the years go by there is marked improvement in the interest and methods of the pupils. At first there is the desire to finish their work quickly, at the expense of neatness; but they soon learn that "haste makes waste," and that a little more time and thought pays in the end; and that it is good policy to have their own garments look as well as those made for others. Miss McKee has had one hundred and fourteen enrolled in Elnathan Hall this year, one of whom answered the call to come up higher, and after a short illness in the hospital, Irvie Beasley's lifeless body was carried home to Huntsville, Ala. At McCulloch Hall, Miss Clara Spears has had one hundred and fourteen young men under her care and she reports that most of them have shown a commendable interest in lessons and work, and the interest in religious work, the best for years. Miss McDill still looks after the interests of McDill Hall, and forty five of the younger girls. A slight fire, and the wear and tear of time and many feet, made some repairs to the building necessary; also a bath room was fitted up on the second floor.

Miss Pinkerton, who has charge of the boarding department, reports 300 boarders. Miss Grace Braham has had a greater interest taken in the work of her department of domestic science, than ever before. A class of nine expect to complete a two year's course and will be the first class to whom the depart nent has issued certificates and they are very proud of the fact.

At Athens, Tenn., Mrs O. J. Perry was not able to finish the school term on account of ill health but Miss Julia Murray of Knoxville College, senior class, was secured at once, and the work has not been hindered. The school at Riceville has had a good attendance. The people are very poor and the sewing room helps to keep the family wardrobes supplied with needed articles that could not be secured elsewhere in that vicinity.

Cleveland, Tenn., has had an average year for the work. Miss Bertha Peters has had charge of the domestic science and Miss Rossie Peters the classes in sewing. The pupils take great interest in the industrial work and are quite proud and happy when they have been successful in making something to eat or wear.

Birmingham, Ala., has had an enrollment of 118 pupils in the sewing classes, and although one of our more recent missions, already the available buildings are crowded to over-flowing.

Arlington, Ala., is a country parish and for many miles the land is owned by the negroes, there being only two white families in the neighborhood. The people are thrifty and have a spirit of independence that shows in their striving to help themselves. The school is crowded with eager, earnest children.

Out on the farm at Prairie, we find that 1909 was a hard year on farmers. There was the extremes of dry and wet weather, poor crops, low prices for cotton and corn, and higher prices for food stuffs. The combination was almost ruinous to the farmer.

Mrs. J. N. Cotton, sewing teacher at Prairie, says: "I have never known girls so eager to sew. There is no lack of enthusiasm on their part, and my only discouragement is a fear that I can not accomplish all I desire to." Miss Bradford has had the classes in domestic science, and has been matron of the girls' dormitory. At Midway, Miss Marsh has had forty-five pupils in sewing. The work has been somewhat discouraging on account of the financial stress, and children having to remain out of school for want of clothes and especially shoes.

Mrs. Wilson, at Camden, has one hundred and nineteen girls in the sewing room, which includes only the girls above B. second grade, as the pupils below that grade do not sew. In domestic science Miss Woodward trains the girls in cooking, cleaning, scouring, sweeping, dusting, washing windows, keeping the yard clean and laundering the table linen. Every girl has her turn at this work. Some have to do their work again and again before it is satisfactory, and with some of the girls there has been a marked improvement, while others have not done so well.

In Canton Bend, sixty-seven pupils take sewing, and faithful instruction has been given. The aim is to make the work a practical kind.

Eight girls at Millers Ferry, are making sewing a specialty. All the girls are required to devote at least half a day a week to sewing, and this has been as good, if not the best, year of our work in this department

Miss Virginia Williams has had one hundred and seventeen boarders in the Sterling Hall dining room, besides looking after the larger girls who occupy the rooms on the second floor. The girls all did well with their cooking, and Millers Ferry reports the only boy who is learning to cook.

Mr. Johnson states that all the industrial work for the girls has been quite satisfactorily done. The nurse training department is perhaps doing more for the mission, than any other agency. First, it is beneficial to the school, as the health of the pupils is better looked after.

Second, it is opening the homes of the best people, to the girls to do a service that demands skill and character, and it helps the white people to see the importance of training the negro youth. It is helping to dispel prejudice, and the girls in training are aspiring to meet whatever demands may be made upon them.

At Henderson, Miss Burris states that better work has been done in the sewing department than ever before. Miss Warren has had forty-one pupils in domestic science, and Miss Totten has cared for thirty-two boys and sixty-nine girls in the boarding department. Miss Totten says the outlook, on the whole, is encouraging. We know that the students never go out as they come to us. Some seed has been planted which will bear fruit. There was one death; a girl of seventeen. She died of appendicitis. One great need here, is a hospital. There is none within forty miles, and we felt, concerning our girl, that prompt attention might have spared her life.

Chase City still has Miss Kerr in charge of the sewing room. Each girl is required to make a sample book, containing all the different stitches used in plain sewing. The girls in the normal department are taught dress-making, cutting, and fitting. The domestic science and boarding departments are largely combined. All the girls above the primary grade are instructed in plain cooking, care of dining room and kitchen.

Bluestone enrolls fifty-two pupils in sewing, and Miss Davis reports good results.

At Norfolk, we miss from her accustomed place in the sewing room, Miss Hester Young, who has been absent on sick furlough. Mrs. Velma Diggs has been very successfully directing the work. Thirteen girls in the graduating class are making their dresses to be worn on Baccalaureate day. Five of these are entitled to a certificate from this department, having finished the required course in sewing.

There were no new buildings undertaken this year. Some few repairs were made, but none that called for the out lay of much money. Two more of the stations are calling loudly for dormitories, and one for a nurse training department. The need for second-hand clothing was greater this year than for some years past, but less than one hundred barrels, or boxes were reported received; a falling off, of about one hundred in two years time. New material for the sewing room, good books and reading matter for reading rooms are more in demand than braided rugs. There are at least, three places where books for boys and girls, such books as our own boys and girls read, and not dry treatises on some dry topic that few grown-up men or women would read. Can you not send some of these books that perhaps your children have outgrown, and put in also, your extra copy of a "Dickens," a "Scott," a "Cooper," or a "Longfellow." We could place an organ or piano to good advantage. And to any individual or individuals who will furnish two nice 9x12 rugs, the story of its need will be given, as also the assurance of appreciation. Begin now to get things ready for the boxes to be sent early this summer, and let us follow the example of the needle work guilds, and send as many new garments as possible, as well as second-hand ones. We thank all our friends for the gifts of the year, especially those who were so quick to respond to calls for special needs. Two feather beds were among these gifts, and these were made up into many pillows for use at Millers Ferry.

In a recent visit to the missions, we were much gratified at the good work being done, and particularly impressed with the devoted, earnest, consecrated teachers. A touching evidence of the impress of these lives is the boys and girls, whose every action is modeled after some favorite teacher.

☞ It is worth while to note that only $13,980.35 were received during the year, while $15,219.36 were expended. Our balance made this possible. Our annual expenses were increased by the addition of the salary of one matron. These figures show that no new work can be undertaken without special provision being made for it. May we not hope that your interest will increase in this great work for American citizens?

The financial statement for the year is as follows:,

Balance April 16, 1908	$ 1 733 73
Total receipts	$13 980 35

DISBURSEMENTS

To salaries	$13 415 00
To supplies, furnishings, repairs, insurance, etc.	$ 1 804 36

Indian Work

Simnasho, Oregon.

"During the year, church services have been better attended than formerly. We have had good audiences, except during the severely cold winter weather, when for a time, a number were driven to the milder districts along the river canyons out of reach of the Mission.

There has been comparatively little sickness among the people and death has occurred but seldom.

From excellent and very timely donations of second-hand clothing, comfortables, etc., have enabled us to relieve and prevent much suffering, which would otherwise have resulted from the excessive cold of this past winter. We have been able to supply all that have required assistance in this line.

The Indian day school at this place is having a good influence in different ways. It tends to gather the people closer to the school which brings them in easier reach of the Mission and the children are in this way being brought more under the Missionary's influence. One of the most pleasant parts of my work has been my work among the children. The teacher has kindly allowed me a large part of Wednesday forenoon each week, to conduct what religious service I think proper. Usually I have studied with the children, some feature of the Sabbath school lesson or commit to memory, portions of Scripture. A change of teachers was recently made, and Mr. Larsen, who is now in charge of the school, is a pronounced Christian—this is something rather out of the usual course—Mr. Larsen has only been here a short time, but long enough to show a change for good. He and his wife were raised Lutherans of the Roman Catholic type, but some time ago were converted to Protestantism, and to them the Christian religion is something very real. I sincerely hope they may be able to remain, for their example among these people cannot fail in doing much good. The Government farmer and his wife are also professing Christians—so at present, we are highly favored and have much for which to be thankful. These Indians appreciate and respect the consistent Christian life, even though not yet ready to fully surrender themselves to it, at least publicly.

Donations of clothing and other useful articles have been received from the following: Mrs. L. S. Gillis, North Argyle, N. Y.; Mrs. Warnock, Princeton, Ind.; Miss Sawyer, Allegheny, Pa.; Mrs. Roberts, Peotone, Ill.; W. M. S., Pasadena, Cal. and W. M. S., East Greenwich, N. Y.

The parsonage was repainted during the year; I have materials on hand for painting the church building and expect to have it done this season. It has not needed repainting as badly as the parsonage,. I herewith send my financial statement for the year and will submit my estimates for supplies to the Presbytery for its approval.

An Indian Chief, when asked about his people, said, "We are trying to live as Christians." Christianity can only come to the Indian through the personal example and patient, faithful preaching and teaching of the Word, by consecrated missionaries—the latter must ever look to a consecrated church for sympathy, and above all, for prayer, that the coming of the Spirit be hastened to bring conviction of sin and work the righteousness of God in this benighted people.

The Agency Mission is cared for by Rev. A. B. and Mrs. Dickie, who write as follows:

"I can report very favorably of the work in the Warm Springs Reservation, for the year ending April 1st, 1909.

"The attendance and attention has been better than the preceding year. The accessions, 5, previously reported, 75, total, 80. I can see a marked change in those who attend church, but are not members. There seems also, to be more of a missionary spirit among the Christian Indians than heretofore. The Indians, when they meet socially, do not do as white people do, talk about improvements in the home, and the farm and community; but they talk of the Dream religion and Indian legends. This I find one of the hardest things to overcome among those outside the church and sometimes it is not altogether outside.

"The Sabbath school reports 100 and an average of 80. Sometimes some of the children go home over Sabbath and we do not have them in the school that day, and it lowers the average.

"The Piutes are doing very well. I have no fault in general to find with them. There is very much less drunkenness and gambling among them this year. I can only find 53 of them and they tell me that I have found all. I do not know; I intended to take a week and corral them, but had not the time before my report must go out. I can report dresses, head-kerchiefs, and quilt pieces from Missionary Society of Grand Avenue, church, Portland, Oregon. Cards, scrap-books and pictures from Juniors of 2nd Mercer, Pa. Cards from Juniors of Canton, Ohio. From Sewickley, through Miss Montgomery, $10.00 applied to Indian work. From Turtle Creek, Pa., the Lillian McConnell Missionary Society, $5.00, per Miss Margaret T. Bell. From the Women's Board for sick and poor, $50.00.

"We are looking and hoping and praying for a better year to come, and we think it will, through the King and the orders He sends forth."

Yours sincerely,
(Signed) A. B. Dickie."

Indian Mission.
Tama, Iowa.

The prospects for the coming year, we consider very encouraging. Our way, this past year, has been fraught with difficulties. The contest between the Government and the Indians over school matters, has been very sharp and bitter, making it extremely difficult to keep the friendship of the Indians and do our duty to the Government. The difficulty has not yet been removed, the Government having withheld the annuity from the Indians, which will probably result in a law-suit in the near future. Our opinion on the matter is being asked nearly every time we appear in camp, and an evasive answer must always be given. The Government has been taking some very active steps against the mescal and saloon. A special detective from Washington, has been on the field for over two months, who, with the assistance of the agent, O. J. Green, and the missionaries in charge, has succeeded in arresting and indicting 64 boot-leggers and saloon-keepers. A number of these have been sentenced, and we have not been turned down by the Grand Jury in a single case.

This work has been very interesting and profitable, and we hope will result in the overthrow of the liquor business on this Reservation. We have some very good Federal Laws now. If a person is found on the Reservation with liquor in his pocket, or in a vehicle, he can be indicted, and in case he has a vehicle of any description, the same may be taken, turned over to the nearest United States Marshall, sold at public sale, one-half the receipts going to the Government, and the remainder to the one who caused the arrest.

At the spring meeting of Cedar Rapids Presbytery, a Provisional Session was asked for and obtained. Session was constituted by the moderator, R. G. Smith, and his action with reference to previous services, with regard to the converts, was made regular and submitted to the Presbytery.

San Francisco, California

Again I am requested to make an annual report of my work as city missionary in connection with the 2nd Church and the Ingleside Mission.

One of our greatest pleasures, is the new church building at Ingleside, which is rapidly nearing completion, a gift in the main, from the Church Boards and individual friends. The building, when completed, will be very neat in appearance and commodious in size, it having besides the auditorium, a Sabbath School room and pastor's study on the main floor. Later, a room for a gymnasium will be completed in the basement. The people of Ingleside, those having no connection at present with the work, as well as those who have, are already pointing to the building with pride.

Another thing for which they are thankful, is the new pastor, Rev. D. A. Russell and his wife, who are working almost, literally, "day and night," to make the work there a success.

To me, the Sabbath school has been a continual source of pleasure. At our last review two classes recited correctly the golden text for the entire quarter. The present Sabbath School enrollment is 150, usually with an attendance in the vicinity of 100.

We have also an interesting Junior Missionary Society, of 32 members, Mrs. D. A. Russell, Superintendent, and the King's Messengers, a boy's organization of 25 members, Rev. D. A. Russel, Superintendent. The Ladies Aid, 25 members.

The regular Sabbath morning and evening services are held, also a Wednesday evening prayer meeting.

During the year, the different departments of the Mission have raised $644. The following is somewhat of a resume of my work since April, 1908: Number of calls made, about 2,000; meetings conducted ——; Sabbath Schools, 40; Loyal Temperance Legion, 16; Silver medal contest, 1; Junior C. E., 11; Ladies Aid, 20.

Approved by Session of 2nd Church,
(Signed) W. E. Dugan,
Moderator.

Miss Irma G. Allen is our Missionary at the First Church, San Francisco—one-half of her support is provided by the congregation. She will present her report in person to the Convention.

Work Among Foreigners.

Much good work is being done by the women of the church, for our foreign born citizens. The Master is sending them to us, to receive His message of love at our hands.

YOUNG MENS' EDUCATIONAL CIRCLE.

This Circle has been organized with 21 members in the Brushton Mission.

Its purpose is physical and intellectual culture to be developed among themselves, by them to others, and by others to them within the Brushton Italian colony.

Remarks:

1. During the winter months, several times food and clothes were given away to help the needy.

2. A successful entertainment was given in the Mission. Also another Christmas treat was given, with the smiling personal presence and assistance of Santa Claus, which made the children of the Sabbath and Sewing school very, very happy.

3. By the kindness of Rev. J. B. Fortunato, 50 copies of the Italian song book, which has been in use in his Mission, he has donated to the Brushton Mission, where we are using them at present.

4. Helps for the earthquake survivors. On the night of January 21st, a meeting was held in the Brushton Italian U. P. Mission, to commemorate and honor the dead, and help the survivors of the Callabria and Sicily's earthquake. As a good result of the preparation work and the meeting, $220.02 was contributed as follows:

1. 2nd U. P. church, Wilkensburg	$68 40
2. Homewood U. P. church, Pittsburg, Pa.	50 00
3. 1st U. P. church, Wilkensburg	47 00
4. Dr. Wm. McAdams, Brushton, Pa.	20 00
5. Brushton Italian U. P. Mission, or 2nd Italian	19 62
6. 2nd U. P., Pittsburg	15 00
Total	$220 02

The sum of $220.02 was sent through the Pittsburg Italian Colony Relief Committe to the Red Cross Society, President Com. Taverna, to help the earthquake survivors. In behalf of these last, we express our deep gratitude to the generous givers.

5. A beautiful individual communion service was donated to the Brushton Italian U. P. Mission, the gift of Rev. Dr. Patterson. Also a silver baptismal bowl was donated to the same Mission, by the First U. P. Church, Wilkensburg. Dr. Patterson and the First U. P. Church, Wilkensburg, of which he is pastor, have deeply obligated the Italian Mission and the missionary, by their very kind remembrance of them, and may the dear Lord largely bless and reward them all.

All of the above is respectfully submitted by

Ministerial Relief

Along with all the other work of the busy women of our church, they take time and thought to remember those, who by reason of advanced years, illness or other providences, are set aside from the activities of life, and thus need the ministry of loving hands and hearts.

We count it a privilege to share the gifts, which our Father has so bounteously bestowed upon us, with our needy brethren. About fifteen hundred dollars has been received for this work during the year.

REPORT OF

Foreign Secretary.

Our Answer to Last Year's Call from the Foreign Field.

(In October, 1908, Mrs. E. M. Hill was compelled, on account of illness, to resign from the Women's Board. How much she has been missed, especially in her wise and efficient leadership of the Foreign Department, it would be hard to express. The writer, with Mrs. J. D. Sands as assistant, was appointed to fill the place of Mrs. Hill for the unexpired term.)

When a cry for help comes from a ship in distress, the answer from the shore is the life-boat, manned with tried and trusty seamen. Sometimes it happens that when the battle with the sea is over, and the rescuers have fought to the utmost limit of their strength, some who might have been saved had there been another boat and crew available, have perished. And, mingled with the joyful greetings, as rescued and rescuers reach the shore, is the lamentation, "Oh! that we might have sent out help enough for all." It is with something of this feeling, that I bring you this evening, the report of the answer which we, as a Women's General Missionary Society, have sent to the cry for help which came to us at the beginning of the year from across the seas. The accounts from our noble band of life-savers are full of cheer and gratitude to God, but the strain of lamentation runs through each report, "Oh! that there had been more means, more workers available. All around us the people are perishing—we have done all we can, but what are we among so many?"

My aim to-night will be to give you just a glimpse of each of our workers at work, dwelling a little longer on the institution more directly under our care, and closing with a look forward to the coming year.

Work Among Christians

Such interesting accounts of work in this department have been sent, that I wish every word might be given here. It is perhaps in this work, most of all, that our missionaries are brought face to face with the pitiful scarcity of laborers. Miss Emma Dean Anderson writes from Sargodha, "When we enter a village in which there are Christians, but no workers, we often have to go to several houses before we find them. It may have been a year or two since they have had a teacher. They are questioned about their knowledge of Christ and Christianity and they often answer, 'We have forgotten all we were taught; how can we advance without a teacher?' Will you not send us one?' Often we wonder at the knowledge they have. An hour is spent in teaching, another hour in the formal service, and then your missionaries go away to the next village which is just as needy, and as we pass the watered fields with the young wheat just coming up, we cannot but think "what right has the church to expect a harvest without properly caring for the seed sown."

Concerning villages in which christian teachers live, she writes: "On arriving at one such village, to which a teacher had gone six months before our coming, we found 168 persons ready for baptism. One hundred of these were adults. Their offering amounted to $12. It did us good to hear the people repeating the ten commandments, the Lord's prayer, Apostles' Creed, pages of Bible questions and answers. This teacher is not an educated man. I remember when he was an inquirer eleven years ago in Pasrur that I asked him if he would not be humble enough to learn to read from his wife. He was. And he is now one of our best workers. Please pray for twelve more men like him for this district."

From Lyallpur, Miss Spencer and Miss McConnell send a like testimony. They feel encouraged by the marked change which Christianity has made in the lives of some of the women in their district. "Many of these women are being truly transformed year by year from the dumb cattle they called themselves, into intelligent and respected women."

Miss Hill and Miss Brotherston, from Sangla Hill, write: "Wherever there has been regular instruction, we have found much to cause us to rejoice. But with the joy comes the sorrow of not being able to teach all who are called by His name."

Here is an extract from the diary of Miss Josephine Martin and Miss Kyle:

"Feb. 5. On the way to the next village, where there are Christians, as we passed through a Mohammedan village, the women came out and stopped us saying, "why do you never come to talk to us? You always pass us by.' It seemed that the Lord meant us to stop with them, though it meant that some Christians would not be visited this camping season. We had a great crowd of women, and visited two other houses to see the sick and had large crowds in each."

Miss Corbett, from Gurdarspur, says: "In one village where the disorder was so great last year, that it was with difficulty that any service could be held, this year the order was exceptionally good. The change in this village has been brought about largely by the faithfulness and zeal of one old woman who received an uplift at the Sialkot Convention two years ago." Miss Dickson reports two Women's Missionary Societies in the Gurdarspur district. In one of these there are no educated women aside from the pastor's wife, who has been ill many months. But the women gathered together in the little mud church and tried to hold a meeting. About all they did, was to take up their collection of half a cent apiece, their monthly dues to the thank-offering fund."

Miss McCahon's work is among the nominal Christian women of Sialkot city. She reports two women persuaded to learn to read and a small school opened in the hope that the mothers might thus be reached.

Miss Cowden and Miss Jane Martin from Khangah Dogran bear testimony to the helpfulness of having a prescribed course of study for the women. This gives them a real knowledge of the Bible and enables the missionaries to ascertain how well they have been taught. The women, with but two exceptions, were able to recite a larger part of the course this year.

Miss Hadley and Miss Hamilton tell of how, when the day of their departure from a certain village came, the women hurried through their work to come and tell them good-bye, and to get a last bit of medicine all around for their ailing children.

Miss McCullough reports from Gujranwalla for herself and Miss Sue Cooper White, that in one village, where there had been but one Christian for years, the husband and five children were baptized. She says, "It did our hearts good to see the woman's joy. When her parents heard of it, they came to see and encourage them, although it was harvest time. This woman who had to work all day in the fields, was in the habit of gathering the village women into her home in the evening and repeating the verses and singing the Psalms she had learned the year before."

Work among Non-Christians.

"As usual our visits among the non-Christians, gave us varied experiences. Some were indifferent, some glad to see us, others were curious, but some enquired with tears, what they must do to be saved," so writes Miss Jane Martin from Kangah Dogran, and the experience of the other missionaries, is much the same. Truly the sower, as of old, must sow his seed in many different kinds of soil. In some villages, open opposition was encountered, in others total indifference, but in most cases, villages visited the year before were eager for the missionaries to stay a longer time. Miss Moore writes from Pathankote, "The people of this district, almost wholy Hindu, seem given over to idolatry. There is not a single Christian among them. However, all the villages are open to the Gospel Message. It was indeed, a great privilege to give the message of God's love to souls who heard for the first time. Miss Margaret Wilson sounds this note of faith from Jhelum, "I believe in every village visited in previous years, we found the women more willing to listen sympathetically this year, than ever before. They have a more definite idea of our purpose in coming to them. I see no reason why we should not expect the Spirit so to work that we shall reap a great harvest before many years, even in stony Jhelum."

Zenana Work.

There has been much of encouragment in the work of visiting the women in their homes this year. Miss Josephine Martin sums it up in this way. "It is difficult to estimate the value of our Zenana work rightly. One thing is certain, homes in which a faithful, sympathetic Zenana worker visits, become changed. They grow friendly to Christian workers and come to understand something of the sincerity of the desire to help them, and to lose faith in many of their old superstitious beliefs." Mrs. McClure from Rawal Pindi, reports a great loss in the death of the faithful Bible woman, Mrs. Morris. For more than six years, this woman went from house to house teaching the Word. She was bright and happy in the midst of much that would have crushed many of us. As yet no one has been found to take her place. In Murree, Mrs. McClure says, the Word was heard gladly in some non-Christian homes, in others it was endured in order to have a visit from a missionary. Miss Spencer says the Bible woman in Lyallpur suffers somewhat from the confusion of tongues in this modern Babel. She has some ten or twelve tongues and dialects to listen to, and to speak as best she can. Prayer is asked for a number of women and girls who express the desire to become Christians but have not the courage to endure all that a public profession of Christianity would demand.

Schools.

Miss Jamison and Miss Fannie Martin who have had charge of the Girl's Boarding School at Sialkot, report 167 boarders and 3 day pupils in attendance. Thirteen girls in the grammar grade entered the Government examinations and all were successful. Three girls entered the Senior and three the Junior normal examinations and were equally successful. Two of these girls are now teaching the women and girls in the Gurdaspur District, two are teaching among the non-Christian girls in the Sialkot City School, one is teaching in the Girl's Boarding School and one has entered the Senior class in the school. Eight girls have been admitted into the church during the year. The health of the school has been, for the most part, good. Two deaths have occurred from consumption, but smallpox and cholera, which raged around did not enter the school and though the death rate from fever, in every direction was high, there was not a single serious case among the girls. A recent letter from Miss Bennett, who with our other new missionary, Miss Belle Hamilton, has been living at the school, tells of a blessed revival at present going on in the school. The revival followed a week of special meetings and is characterized by a wonderful spirit of praise. The fruits of this work of grace are seen in the daily lives of the girls, the teachers testifying that everyone is so tractable and obedient that there is no trouble at present in the matter of school discipline. Sialkot City Girl's School is exerting a blessed influence in the city. A Bible woman, formerly connected with the school, is going around to the homes of the pupils teaching the mothers. They receive her gladly and though none have yet acccepted her message they speak of being glad their daughters are learning to read the Bible at school. Miss Hadley tells, of how at one time, of discouragment in the City Girl's School Zafarwal, it seemed as if it would be better to close the school. But just then attention was specially drawn to a little Hindu widow who attended so regularly and made such good progress, and the thought came, "what would become of her if the school were taken out of her life? Miss Cleland, tells of the girls of the Avalon school, having nearly all joined the Women's Missionary Society recently organized in the congregation and asked, "Are we all as generous as these girls who are giving one-half or three fourths of their allowance to the Lord?" Miss Emma Dean Anderson writes of Sargodha City school for girls. "In May the Jane Arnold Memorial school building was completed. There are two good-sized class-rooms, a veranda, and ample grounds enclosed by a wall. Miss Jean Morrison has good news to give us from the School for Hindu and Mohammedan girls in Rawal Pindi. "One hundred and two girls took the government examination and ninety-six of them passed. They also passed the Bible examination with credit. Many of them take a keen interest in the study of God's Word; some of them have said they were Christians. Three little Hindu girls came frequently to my class-room half an hour before school opened to pray. Their simple child-like faith and expectation gave one new hope." Miss Morrison closes thus: "May God give our friends at home, hearts to care more and eyes that are clearer to see the possibilities in Him for these girls, and a more eager desire to be helpers together by prayer in bringing them to Him." Miss Jane Martin reports the Christian School at Martinspur as doing very well, having two teachers and an average attendance of 35. Our school at Kangah Dogran is almost depopulated by the fever which is still raging in the city. Miss E. J. Martin reports the Girls Industrial Home at Pasrur thus: "The school has suffered during the year, because of frequent changes of those in charge. Miss Lawrence having served faithfully and efficiently for several years was compelled to go to the hills on account of ill-health. During the summer Miss Kyle and Miss Gordon divided the time and since November 1st, Miss E. J. Martin has been in charge. As often happens in famine orphanages, tuberculosis has been more or less prevelant in the school. Several have died from this disease during the year. The building is being altered to make it possible to give the open air treatment. The results of both secular and Bible examinations have been gratifying. One girl took a grade of 99 in a written examination on the Gospel of Mark and 100 in Old Testament Bible Stories.

MEDICAL WORK

Sialkot Memorial Hospital

Miss Minger reports that this year, as the previous year, began with a watch-night prayer meeting. The daily afternoon prayer meetings have continued throughout the year, as has also the Saturday afternoon public prayer meeting, which is often attended by the city workers and Dr. Scott, who rarely misses one of these meetings. Dr. Gilbakian passed her first year's language examination early in April and took over professional charge of the medical cases in the Indoor Department. She continued in this branch of the work until she went to the hills in August, Dr. White confining herself to the dispensary work except in surgical cases in the hospital, at such time both doctors being present. More tubercular cases have been admitted this year than last. Many have died, but we are thankful to say we were able to send quite a number out to Pasrur again near the close of the year. We have not had quite so many new children brought into the Children's Ward this year, as last. The total number of new out-door cases for the year is 13,127, the aggregate 33,727, in-patients 597. On the fifteenth of September, Dr. White gave over the dispensary to Dr. Gilbakian and on October 1st the full work to Dr. Gilbakian and Miss Minger. She set sail for Amercia October 24, rejoicing that Christ's work did not depend on her and believing He would watch over with as much love and tenderness during the year she spent in America as ever before.

Pasrur Dispensary

The assistant, Mrs. Maidment, has certainly been blessed and is proving herself a blessing. She is simple, unassuming, and uncomplaining. With assistants whom many would consider unfitted for the work, she has kept steadily on, teaching and leading them on to greater usefulness. The hearts of the people have been won so that instead of 25 patients daily as there were when she began two years ago, there are now often over 100 daily and she frequently has in-patients who stay with her for treatment, as she has a room fitted up for this purpose.

The Good Samaritan Hospital, Jhelum

This has been a year of famine, rain and fever. There was no rainfall for the winter crop last year, and as a result, famine prices prevailed. This summer, the rainfall was excessive and on account of the standing water and the swarms of mosquitoes, fever has been very prevelant everywhere in the Punjab, and probably as a result the number of our indoor patients this year has almost doubled. We had 350 this year, and only 206 last year. The total attendance in the outdoor department this year, was 22,192, which is about 3000 more than last year. We have had over 300 operation, mostly minor., and been called to villages from ten to forty miles distant on various occasions. Sometimes it was impossible to go. Once Dr. Gilbakian answered a call about eight miles distant from the railway and no means of travel but a pony and a man's saddle. She came back very stiff and sore, but had some laughs over her experiences too. Miss Matthews, who has been our assistant here for ten or twelve years, felt the need of a long rest, and left us in January last year. Since then, Miss Ward, a graduate of Lodhiana Medical School, has been our hospital assistant. She is enthusiastic in her work and a very capable assistant. We have a compounder and four nurses in training here; three entered the hospital in March and are doing very well. They are anxious for plenty of lectures or lessons. They look very neat and nice in their blue gingham uniforms and white caps and aprons. In the morning after the ward patients have had their temperature taken and beds made, we all gather for prayers in the chapel, a small room with wards on each side. We begin with a Psalm, and the patients who can walk, usually gather in as we sing. We read the daily lesson on the Sabbath school lessons together, after which we make the rounds. Each patient is expected to be at her own bedside, if not on her bed, at time of rounds. After all have been seen the dispensary work begins. One nurse helps the compounder in the drug room, one guards the entrance to the room where the register of patients is made, to see that the patients do not rush in ahead of their turn to see the doctor, and another nurse does dressings and helps in the treatment room, the fourth nurse does night nursing and sleeps in the day time. By one o'clock, the dispensary work is over and all have lunch and attend to indoor patients or any other necessary work until their lesson at 3 p. m., which lasts an hour. After that, comes evening temperature and medicine and prayers with the in-patients. Each nurse takes prayers one evening a week and the assistant and the Doctor one evening each. Many of the patients come from distant villages and have never heard of Christ before, and, although we cannot report any conversions yet, we know that many have listened with real interest to the Bible readings and seemed to understand Christ's mission.

Kala Dispensary

There have been 2,221 new patients treated in Kala this year, although most of the time it has only been open twice a week, from 7 to 11 a. m., in summer and 10 to 2 p. m., in winter. We have had a Bible woman living in the compound all year, who reads to the patients as they wait their turn to be seen and keeps the place in order. Her husband also lives there and visits the neighboring villages as an evangelist. The offer of higher wages took from our dispensary two successive compounders after a short time of service and Dr. Simpson had to drive out from Jhelum twice a week for eight months of the year. One day the thermometer pinned on her dress went to the highest point it could, 110. Dr. Simpson says, "we tried to start a girl's school in Kala this year, but the Hindus called a meeting of their influential men and decided they would not eat or drink with, or have dealings with anyone who should send their daughters to our school. So we got no pupils. They also advised people not to allow their women folk to come to the dispensary and the following Wednesday, there were only seven or eight women present, and we wondered why, and only found out a few days later. However, that Wednesday, on our way home, through the village of Jado, we were surrounded by a crowd wanting medicine for fever and other ailments. We gave medicine from the buggy to thirty-five women and children and finally had to stop and tell the remaining sick folk to come to Jhelum for medicine as the supply of quinine, calomel, soda powders and tonic pills I had with me, ran out. A number had brought those too sick to walk, on their beds to the road-side, waiting my return from Kala.

EGYPT

Miss McDowell, in charge of the Girl's School in Alexandria, reports the highest average attendance the school has ever had. The subject of prayer has been made a special study this year, and much interest has been awakened, so that often a girl will ask for prayer for a sick friend, or when kept away from school on account of a mourning in the family will send a request that the home should be remembered in prayer. Miss McClenahan, one of our new missionaries, is with Miss McDowell, and has already won a place for herself in the hearts of the girls. Miss Finney, in another of the Alexandria schools, has this cheering fact to recount, that the average monthly attendance in 1908, is exactly double that of 1904. Miss Pieken is associated with Miss Finney in this school. Some of the older girls are catching the spirit of passing on what they have learned, to their friends and relatives. Miss Finney says, "the grandfather of one of our little Moslem girls, who has made two pilgrimages to Mecca, and who is pious in his own way, has always interested me very much. I have often wondered if I would ever be able to give him a glimpse of the truth as it is in Jesus. Ever since the child started to school, the grandfather has been in a state of impatience till she would learn to read. Not long ago, I asked if he were not pleased with Zakeeyah's reading, and was told that he had her read her Bible lesson to him each evening, and was much interested in what the Book says. Miss McConaughey is encouraged by the attendance at her school, in Zagazig, which breaks all records this year with 149 as the monthly average. The school had its first commencement this year. There were two graduates, one a Syrian and one a Mohammedan.

Miss Margaret Bell arrived in Egypt after a sick leave, in time to take over the school at Mansourah, which had been in charge of Miss Ferrier, who is now on furlough in America. Miss Bell says she found her work made easier by the excellent organization of the school and the wise administration of her predecessor. The efforts of the girls to live the truths learned in school have aided and encouraged the teachers much. In Tanta, the school under Miss Atchison and Miss Carol MacMillan, has quite outgrown its bounds. A public examination, held in a huge tent at the time of the graduating exercises last winter, proved a good advertisement for the school. Many Moslem girls are seeking admission. The Missionary Association has authorized the addition of a boarding department to this school.

There was a graduating class in the Girl's College at Cairo, of which Miss Kyle is the head, of 16, representing many creeds and nationalities. Many have been turned away from this school for lack of room, for only 300 can be accommodated. Over forty had to be refused admission to the boarding department for the same reason. Two of the girls united with the church, and many others are striving to carry out in their lives, the teachings of the Gospel.

Miss Thompson is in charge of the largest day school in Cairo, with an average attendance of 320. Another of our new missionaries, Miss Kerr, is with Miss Thompson. In a private letter, Miss Thompson expresses the hope that the board will send many more girls like Miss Kerr, to Egypt.

Miss Walker's school is in a neighborhood in Cairo, which is almost entirely Coptic. The Copts do all they can to keep the girls away, and this, with the fact that a Mohammedan school has just been erected in the neighborhood, makes the attendance fluctuating notwithstanding that there was an enrollment last year of 135 Coptic girls.

Miss Paden is another of our Cairo teachers. She reports a larger enrollment and a better tone in the school this year than last, but mourns the fact that there has been no conversions among the girls this year. She adds, "but some of the girls seem less wayward than before.

We naturally connect Miss Smith's name with the Fowler Orphanage, but we must remember that she also has charge of a day school of 100 pupils. Here is an interesting bit from Miss Smith's report: "I must tell you about our thank-offering. An old man who had lived for years, in the school, died in August. He left a few pieces of old broken furniture which could not be used for anything. We gave this to the girls to cut up and soak in coal-oil for kindling. We were to buy it from them for a penny a bundle. After school they would hurry to get their work done and then gather in the back yard and with a saw, hatchet and knives, they would work until dark, the little ones gathering the splints and after they were prepared, tying them up in bundles of ten sticks each. How happy they were at the time of our Thank-offering meeting, when they all stood up together, and after repeating Psalm 116:12,13,14, they presented their first thank-offering to the Lord, of $2.50.

Miss Hammond has charge of the school at Fayoum. She rejoices in the fact that all her native teachers are church members and are most faithful and ready to help in every way they can.

The Pressly Memorial Institute at Assiut, has been under the care of Miss Ruth Work and Miss Anna Criswell. Out of an enrollment of 315, 167 are Protestants, 124 Copts, 24 Moslems. An interesting feature has been the home-making class. The girls have learned cooking and many other things, which will tell on the future homes of Egypt. During the year, fifteen girls have united with the church.

At Luxor Miss Buchanan lacks only one of 300 enrollment, 100 of these being boarders. Miss Buchanan writes, "at the beginning of the year, a kindergarten class was begun. It is hoped it will be a benefit in training teachers. The four upper classes have entered into the spirit with great earnestness. A real victory was gained this year, when a girl of high family consented to teach. The idea prevails that one becomes a teacher only through straitened circumstances. For years, our Mission has been trying to teach that to help others into a better life, is not the work of the poor and unfortunate only, but that God wants the best for His service. Four of the girls became active members of the C. E., and six united with the church during the year, while others are asking to be received. There is an increased earnestness and deeper spirituality manifested than formerly.

It would appear, from this brief note of the schools, that our missionaries had had their hands full, but they found time to do a great deal of work besides. In all the stations we find them directing the efforts of the native Bible women, conducting prayer meetings, holding Sabbath schools in the villages. Miss McDowell spends Sabbath afternoon in a village where 50 Moslem women are taught by a Bible woman during the week. Many of these seem hungry to hear the Word. In Alexandria, thirteen Jewesses are reading the Bible, one of whom has just been brought to see that Jesus is the Messiah. Miss Smith holds a prayer meeting for women, once a week in Fum El Khalig. She reads to groups of Moslem women and children on her way to and from meeting. Miss Thompson presides over four districts in Cairo, eight Bible women being under her care, who report much better attendance than last year. Miss Paden says, "so many Moslem homes are open to the missionary through the school, that one longs for more time, more strength and the power and fulness of the Spirit, to bring these sisters to the Saviour." Miss Rena Hogg has been appointed General Secretary to visit and encourage the workers among the women. This will fill a long felt need, and Miss Hogg is just the one to stir up a greater interest and push forward the work. During the year, 39 women Bible teachers have been employed, giving instruction to 3,881 women with 2,800 irregular hearers. While these Bible women are not directly under the care of the Women's General Missionary Society, their work is directed for the most part, by our missionaries. Miss Hogg states, that in the church at Assiut, the women's part of the church, has been uncomfortably crowded. She says, "two things have cheered me, in regard to Moslems. One is, that some of the church women make special mention of Mohammedans in their prayers, from time to time pleading for their conversion. I cannot remember before, having heard any one but the pastor's wife do so, and she being the daughter of a converted Moslem, it is natural she should not share the general lack of faith in Moslem conversion. The other is, that two of the Khayatt school teachers, who have been accompanying me to a village on Sabbath afternoon to teach the children, while I am engaged with the regular women's meeting, have become, lately, very much interested in the Mohammedan women who drop in, in a casual way, to listen to their lesson. They have now, seven to nine women every Sabbath afternoon, and give them a special lesson suited to their understanding and circumstances.

Tanta Hospital and Clinic

We give the tale of Tanta Hospital in Dr. Lawrence's own words, though somewhat condensed. "This year, has been an ideal one in the hospital, in that the patients have been, more than in former years, the poor and needy Egyptians, rather than the better paying natives and foreigners. This has sadly affected our finances, but has brought satisfaction to our hearts. A family of five, who were brought, horror-stricken and wounded, from the ruins of their fallen home, were nursed back to wholeness. Several who sat in darkness, were given the benefit of a forlorn hope, and went away happy, with the half an eye, which was better than none. Some, forsaken in old age and illness, came to us to die in cleanliness and peace. One little lad, blind from birth, challenged our tears by his brave patience in the long, weary days preceding the removal of his bandages, after a cataract operation. He remained several months, until both eyes were opened. His eager interest in the new world, and quaint descriptions of the new-found sense, were an interesting study.

Our supply of clothes, beds and bedding ran short at times, as when three patients were kept in the bath-room until clothes could be washed. Sittings were given on the veranda until patients could be discharged, and hot bottles were passed around of a cold night. Cases of diphtheria, small-pox, measles, tuberculosis, whooping-cough, etc., were turned away with a longing for a contagious ward. This year, our patients represented more of a cosmopolitan character of Egyptian population. At one time, when there were about 60 patients in the hospital, ten different nationalities were recorded, with eleven creeds. Miss Harvey and Miss Sill have borne the heavy burden of nursing, with a loyalty to the hospital, which has been an inspiration to others. We have been happy in having the experienced help and never-failing advice of Dr. Elizabeth N. Brady of Chicago, (Dr. Brady took Dr. Anna Watson's place during a six-month's absence in America.) We were rich this year, as in former years, in the thought and generosity of Mrs. Harvey, and we record with great gratitude, the endowment of a bed in memory of Dr. Harvey.

The clinic has held its own, despite the multiplicity of other clinics, and the nearness of the new Opthalmic Hospital, with its fine equipment. The same drooping, miserable crowd, plagued by disease, tormented by aches and pains, sore-eaten, tortured by the tight grasp of disease, come day by day. A mother came with a pitiful, emaciated child, cold, blue, with insufficient filthy clothing, yet the only and dearly-loved of his mother. Surely this was a victim to the false God, Superstition. As her tale unfolded to our horrified ears, she told of how, in her desperation, because of an ever-increasing illness, she had taken the child to a deserted grave-yard, and put it into the broken-down tomb of a pious Sheik; and here, in the damp darkness and indescribable horror, she had left the child for an hour, for three successive Fridays during the time of the midday prayer in the mosque. She said that something clutched at her heart as she hurried away to get out of earshot of the child's cries. She had been told that by thus satisfying the spirits under the ground, she would gain health for her precious baby.

Perhaps in the outwork we reach more closely, the little-touched region of the rural delta. To village, hamlet and plantation, we are called, often leaving the railway and carriage roads, and riding or walking far afield. In some far out peasant home, where life is simple and primitive as in the tent of Sarah, we must face some of the most trying situations in medicine or surgery. On a wooden divan, brought in from the doorway, or on the family oven, cleared of its year of accumulation, our work must be done. Water, strained through a towel and boiled in suspicious cooking pots—technique often questionable—the village at the door—wailing, dust-throwing women gathered around the patient, nearby indifferent spectators, a donkey, a camel or a cow—while over-head fly the pigeons and inquisitive neighbors peek over the wall or through the roof.

Sudan

No report of the Girl's school at Khartum North, has reached us. The school was opened in September by our two young missionaries, Miss McLean and Miss Bradford. The building is not yet complete, but the part which is finished, has proved most satisfactory and the school has been well attended from the first. A great change in the manners and conduct, especially of the boarders, is already noticeable.

OUR MISSIONARIES

India

Miss Sue Cooper White has resigned on account of her engagement to Rev. J. A. McArthur. Miss Mary Lawrence is recovering rapidly from a serious operation undergone at Columbia hospital. Both Miss Lawrence and the Women's Board, feel greatly indebted for the loving care and skillful treatment received by her during her stay in the hospital.

Miss Mary Logan, who came home from India at the same time as Miss Lawrence, in poor health, is now almost well. Dr. Maria White, who returned in charge of the two invalids, and is now enjoying her furlough, expects to return at the beginning of the year. Miss Mary J. Campbell expects to sail early in July, stopping for a few weeks in England to attend the Keswick Convention. Her sister, Miss Bessie, is to accompany her to India. Miss Mary Martin's furlough will expire in September, and she expects to return then. Miss Sallie Dickey is still in this country on the sick list.

EGYPT.

Dr. Belle Drake's health, though improved, does not yet warrant her return to Egypt. Miss Charlotte Claney resigned to marry Dr. Lambie, of the Sudan. Miss Helen Ferrier and Miss Roxy Martin, who have been on furlough, expect to sail for Egypt in September. Miss McDowell is expected shortly in America on furlough. On account of the scarcity of workers, Miss Thompson and Miss Buchanan decided to stay in Egypt another year, although their furlough time had arrived.

New Missionaries.

Miss Elizabeth Lawrence of Columbus, Ohio, has been recommended for appointment to India; Miss Loretta Mitchell of New Wilmington, Pa., and Miss Elsie French, Waterloo, Ia., to Egypt, and Miss Roma Beatty, of New Concord, Ohio, to India (Miss Beatty to be Young Women's Special instead of Miss Sue Cooper White.) Miss Anna M. Barackman has been appointed to the Sudan. Other promising candidates are under consideration. If we are to fill the places of those who have resigned and send the new missionaries asked for, it will be necessary to secure more salary pledges. Will delegates please bear this in mind, and report the need at once to their societies. It would be sad indeed to detain any who may have received appointment because we had not the means to send them. Miss Anna Milligan, through the "Half Million Club," has pledged a salary for India. Miss Mitchell's salary has been undertaken.

What we are Promising for this Year.

This year we have granted a total increase in the estimates for all three fields of $7,789. Of this, $2,185 is for the support of new work. The rest is for the increase of expenditure, which comes with the growth of our work. We rejoice in our children's growth and development, even though at times we must draw on our hard-earned savings and deny ourselves luxuries, to meet the increase of expense, which that growth demands. So ought we to rejoice when this work of ours grows and expands and we should be willing to bend every energy toward raising the necessary amount to care for these, our beloved living, growing missions.

The new work consists 1st, of a small school at Zagazig. This school is for the younger girls and is to act as a feeder for the large school. The building is also used as a place to hold meetings for the women whose husbands often object to them entering a Protestant church, but who can come to a school building. 2nd—In Tanta, a day school for girls has been supported by the Foreign Board. A small boarding department is much needed and we have decided to undertake it. Tanta city and district is the most important field in the Delta, geographically and potentially. 3rd.—We are to pay the rent of a school building at Zeitum, which is to be used, not only for a school, but for church services and Sabbath school, each week. 4th.—We are to support a school for girls in Beni Suef. This school was started by a rich Copt, who tired of it, and offers it to our mission. This is the only Protestant school in a town of 30,000. 5th.—We are to assume the traveling expenses, $30 a year, of Miss Rena Hogg, as Secretary of Women's Work. The estimates for the year to come are $58,877.29.

New Buildings

A home for the lady missionaries in Sialkot, to cost $5,000 and to be named the Elizabeth Gordon Home, has been granted. This building has been given to the Juniors as their Special Work for the next two years. The Home is to be built oppo ite the Memorial hospital. The doctors and American assistants will live in the Home. The addition of the quarters formerly occupied by them in the hospital, will greatly add to the capacity and comfort of the hospital.

The building in which our new school at Beni Suef is to be carried on, is offered for sale. The Board has decided to buy it and add one story to it. This is to be done with the Silver Anniversary Life Membership fees.

How Can I Do My Part in Providing For This Increase

1st. By daily prayer that the Lord will provide.

2nd. By a monthly increase of at least, five cents in my offering to the W. G. M. S.

3rd. By persuading one woman, at least, during the year to become a praying, paying member of my missionary society.

Respectfully submitted,
(Mrs. J. A.) Helen A. Wilson,
Acting Foreign Secretary.

1908 Thank-Offering.
